

“Our company was audited by the state, and at one point the auditors were recommending a tax liability in excess of 2 million dollars. We retained Jesse McClellan at McClellan Davis to represent us and he immediately took control of the situation. After recognizing that the audit staff had overlooked a little known, complex area of tax law that was applicable to our business, Jesse was able to prove that we had actually over paid the tax. The state eventually refunded us approximately five hundred thousand dollars. The net result was that McClellan Davis saved us more than 2.5 million dollars!!”
